SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER or SUNDAY OF DIVINE MERCY APRIL 7, 2024

From the Pastor's Desk

Divine Mercy Sunday
April 7, 2024
John 20:19-31

Dear Ascension Family,

Christ is risen! Alleluia!

On behalf of the parish family of Ascension, I and the entire parish staff would like to express our heartfelt appreciation and gratitude to all - parish groups, families and individuals, who have participated and contributed their talents, time and efforts for a successful and meaningful celebration of the Passion and Resurrection of Jesus. We know that words are not enough to express appreciation and gratitude. But we are truly and deeply appreciative and grateful.

In a special way, we would like to say "Thank you so much!" to the Parish Pastoral Council chaired by Romy Quiblat for coordinating all the various activities; the Liturgy Ministry led by Cecil Canlas for facilitating the liturgical celebrations; the Environment Ministry led by Anna Rodriguez with great assist from Virgilio Capara for the simple but beautiful and elegant physical arrangements and decorations; the Community Affairs of 110th Police Precinct headed by P.O. Dave Saponieri and the San Guillermo Marshalls led by Felix DeLeon for securing the processions; the Altar Servers guided by Mireya Morales and Erma Amante for assisting in the orderly flow of the liturgy; the Children's Choir led by Ed Contreras for the angelic voices at the Encuentro and Easter Dawn Mass, and the Spanish group for the "academy-award-winning" dramatization of the Stations of the Cross. You are all an inspiration and God's special gifts to the parish!

In the Jubilee Year 2000, Pope St. John Paul II, who had a deep devotion to the Divine Mercy since the early years of his priesthood, officially established the 2nd Sunday of Easter as Divine Mercy Sunday.

To better understand the meaning of mercy, it will be helpful to examine its etymology. The English word “mercy” goes back to the Latin word miser cordia, which is composed of two words. The first word “miseri” refers to suffering. The second word “cordia” is familiar to us from such words as “cardiologist” and “cardiac.” It means heart. Therefore, mercy means to have a heart for those who suffer or, more precisely, to have a heart willing to suffer for others.

On the first universal celebration of Divine Mercy Sunday in 2001, Pope St. John Paul II declared that divine mercy is “truly and Easter gift to the Church.” The gospel reading today tells us that on the very day when Christ rose from the dead, in his first appearance to the disciples huddled in the upper room and hiding behind locked doors out of fear, he said to them, “Peace be with you.” Why? Remember that his disciples promised him their loyalty. Yet it was only John who was found near the cross when Jesus was dying. Peter denied him, and all the others abandoned him. Now Jesus appears alive and victorious before them. They were filled with joy. But they must have felt guilty for their denials and disloyalty. So Jesus says “Peace be with you” to assure them that there is no sin greater than divine mercy.

Jesus did not reprimand the disciples. Instead he breathed the Holy Spirit upon them to empower them to be heralds and agents of God’s mercy. He says, “Receive the Holy Spirit. Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them and whose sins you retain are retained.” Those words reverberate every time a priest in the confessional says, “I absolve you from your sins!” The Church brings to others God’s mercy not only through the Sacrament of Confession but also through the mercy we show to one another. However, mercy is manifested not only in forgiveness but also in our care for the needs of others.

But to be heralds and agents of God’s mercy, we need a faith that surpasses the faith of Thomas. When the risen Lord made his unscheduled visit that first Easter night, Thomas was absent. When the others joyfully told him, “We have seen the Lord,” Thomas appeared unimpressed and simply said that he wanted to see the wounds before he could believe. Indeed we need faith that surpasses the faith of Thomas in order for us to generously share with those in need when we cannot see what are its consequences.

Our Lord of the Divine Mercy is honored and glorified when we show mercy by forgiving one another and caring for each other.

Praying for you all,

Fr. Anacleto

Saint's Corner:

St. Stanislaus
April 11

Stanislaus was born in 1072 in Kracow of parents who had been childless for many years and who had prayed perseveringly for the gift of a child. His parents devoted him from his birth to the service of God, and encouraged in every way the piety which he showed from early childhood. He was ordained a priest in Kracow and became the bishop of Kracow. He was saintly and an eloquent preacher that brought about a great reformation of morals among his penitents - clergy as well as laity flocking to him from all quarters for spiritual advice.

Stanislaus nurtured a special concern for the poor. It is said that after he had become a bishop, his house was always crowded with the poor, and he kept a lot of widows and other distressed persons to whom he systematically distributed gifts. Stanislaus' efforts as a religious reformer were aimed at ensuring greater justice and charity within society.

Stanislaus was a humble man. When he was still only a priest, his bishop, Lampert Zula, wanted to resign the episcopal office in his favor, but Stanislaus refused to consider the suggestion. And after Lampert's death, Stanislaus accepted to succeed him in the office of Kracow only because the population of the city exerted great pressure on him and Pope Alexander II gave him a formal order to accept the episcopal office.

Stanislaus was courageous. He lived under an immoral king, King Boleslaus II, a man of unbridled lust and savage cruelty. The young bishop courageously remonstrated with the king, first in private and then in public. And after Boleslaus kidnapped the beautiful wife of a nobleman, an act which caused a general outrage among the population, Stanislaus threatened him with excommunication. But the king persisted in his evil ways and in the end Stanislaus had no other choice than to carry out his threat. Boleslaus became so enraged at Stanislaus that he sent men to kill him. When he suspected that they were hesitant to carry out his order, he himself went to the church where Stanislaus was celebrating Mass and hacked him to pieces with his own hand.

Stanislaus was canonized in 1253 by Pope Innocent IV. He was later declared patron saint of Poland.

The life of St. Stanislaus illustrates a well-known fact: it is dangerous to speak the truth to the powers that be. Yet, a Christian cannot remain silent when these powers use their high position to inflict all kinds of miseries on innocent people. As the Irish statesman Edmund Burke once said: "The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing." We may be hated for telling the truth, but by so doing we will be pleasing to God. And in the end that is really the only thing that matters.
